Czech

Christmas is a quiet and peaceful religious moment. At midnight, most families go to Holy Mass or Pasterka as it is known.

Czechs eat Makruska Tart, special roulade with chocolate cream, a special salad with tuna (spring salad), the traditional cheese pie, sausages and the bread named Vanocka. All the food is associated with apple juice or wine.

France

In the holy night they have dinner and then go to bed. At French Christmas table we can find different dishes like "la dinde au marrons", salad, "la buche de Noel" and various types of cheese.

Germany

They call the Christmas "The holy night". In this night they eat grilled gang meat with cabbage and apple. As a dessert they serve marzipan and a cake called "stolen" which is like the Romanian "cozonac".

Portugal

The Portuguese go to the church at the midnight to celebrate Missa de Galo.

As traditional dishes they have products formed by lemon, fish and carrot and the dessert is made from sweet chesse and raisins. They have also a dessert called rabanadas which contains milk, raisins and cinnamon.

Romania

Romanians call this day Craciun.

If we talk about food the Romanians tables are full of: sarmale, mamaliga, slanina, steak, wine, juice.

As a dessert . Romanians eat cozonac and different cakes like the cake with apple and others.
